

TITLE

SEPARATION OF CARBON NANOTUBES DISPERSED BY NUCLEIC
ACIDS

ABSTRACT

Carbon nanotubes dispersed by a stabilized solution of nucleic acid molecules formed separated nanotube-nucleic acid complexes and were separated according to standard chromatographic methods, including gel electrophoresis, two phase solvent systems and ion exchange chromatography.